Lotteries are a ticket purchase in a game of chance and under the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) guidelines no tax receipt can be offered. HOW MUCH MONEY DID THE QEII FOUNDATION RECEIVE FROM THE LOTTERIES IN 2019?

The net revenue from the QEII Foundation lottery programs in 2019 was approximately $6.4 million. Since 2003, the lotteries have raised over $80 million in net revenue (proceeds), which has been directed to health care at the QEII Health Sciences Centre. This money has gone directly to help strengthen care for patients at the QEII, in all 10 buildings across both the Halifax Infirmity and VG sites. All ticket purchase revenue from QEII Home Lotteries is directed to the QEII Foundation. The QEII Foundation then pays for the expenses associated to running the lotteries, which includes the purchase of grand prize properties and other prizes, marketing, call centre support, insurance and licenses. The QEII Foundation carefully examines balancing the risk and reward of running each lottery in its goal to raise significant funds to advance health care in Nova Scotia. All lottery expenses comply with the rules and regulations established by the governing body, Nova Scotia Alcohol and Gaming Authority.
